Reforming Economic Systems in Asia:

A Comparative Analysis of China, Japan, South Korea, Malaysia and Thailand

Printed by Edward Elgar- in Association with ISPI

After the 1997 Asian crisis, most Asian countries embarked on a serious process of reform to revitalise their economies. This highly topical book analyses the reforms proposed and implemented in the countries chosen as case studies, providing a thorough evaluation of their impact on the socio-economic system of each country. International variables are also taken into account, such as the changing role of regional international institutions and the new geopolitical and strategic equilibrium in East Asia.
